Fund manager's report

Source: Groupama AM

The month of July was marked by a series of major trade agreements between the Unit-ed States and several economic blocs, including Europe, which helped ease tariff ten-sions. Central banks, remaining cautious, maintained their monetary policy stance. This led to a broad market rally, from which your fund did not benefit, mainly due to its significant exposure to the information technology sector.

Temenos (banking software, +29.6%) reported Q2 results well above expectations, with +16% organic revenue growth and a record operating margin of 41%. The upward revi-sion of full-year guidance further strengthened the credibility of the ongoing recovery.

Technogym (fitness equipment, +11.2%) delivered a strong H1 with +14.1% growth. All geographic regions and segments (B2B, B2C) contributed to this growth. The Americas, Europe, and Italy were particularly dynamic, with growth rates of +20.2%, +15.4%, and +18.2%, respectively.

Eurofins (biological testing services, +11.4%) reported H1 organic revenue growth of 2.9%, in line with expectations, while adjusted EBITDA came in slightly above expecta-tions with a nearly stable margin of 22.4%. The group also indicated that it expects to complete the majority of its related-party real estate buybacks in H2 2025.

ASM International (semiconductor equipment, -21.3%) saw its orders fall to €673m, 19% below the consensus estimate of €835m. This miss revived concerns over a po-tential slowdown in the investment cycle, overshadowing otherwise solid results.

VusionGroup (electronic shelf labels, -17.6%) reported strong revenue growth (+65%). However, Q2 orders declined by 22% due to an unfavorable base effect. The stock was also negatively impacted by Walmart's placement of approximately 4% of the capital.

Reply (IT services, -6.1%) posted Q2 results in line with expectations, with +5.3% or-ganic growth—still above peers but below its historically near-double-digit pace. So far, no signs of acceleration are seen for H2. The adjusted EBITDA margin held up well, reaching a record 20.8%, supported by a one-off gain (provision reversal).
