MONTHLY COMMENT AS AT 30/12/2022

Market commentary

December concluded a year of contradictory events in 2022. Euphoria gave way to the anxiety of a war at the gates of Europe, triggering persistent inflation which had initially been considered transitory. The central banks were slow to assess the danger but decided to act so as not to undermine their credibility in this battle, after a decade of low interest rates.

The consequence of this monetary tightening has manifested itself radically with the French 10-year rising from 0.20% to 3.11% over the year while its German counterpart has risen from -0.18% to 2.57%. These movements are of a magnitude we have seen before, but with a starting level close to zero, the limited carry could not cushion this sudden rise.

Between the beginning and the end of 2022, the index levels were:

- Main from 48 to 91bps with a maximum at 138 on 27 September.
- Senior Fin from 55 to 99bps with a maximum at 153 on 29 September.
- Subfin from 108 to 172bps with a maximum at 280, on 29 September
- Xover from 242 to 474bps with a maximum at 670, on 27 September

This context revealed a dichotomy between a resilient real economy and volatile financial markets. The main questions for the coming year will be the labour market and the level of interest rates. At the heart of this balancing act, central banks will have to balance the imperative of growth with the constraint of controlled inflation.

2023 should be as turbulent as the previous year, with the difference that the macroeconomic environment has changed profoundly. Inflation is expected to ease as commodity flows normalise and interest rates are expected to remain at high levels. This situation offers attractive opportunities for the European financial sector, especially as its fundamentals have been strengthened thanks to prudent regulation. Nevertheless, it should be remembered that risks are still in the market and that selectivity will be one of the keys for performance in the coming year.

Fund activity

The fund held 1.2% of the NWG 11.5 make-whole called, (the stock ended the year 18% above the 1 January price following this announcement), 0.4% of the TP Crédit Coopératif bought back at 142 (bought at 111 of par in November 2021) and 0.3% of the UBS 5% AT1 recalled on the first call date. It also holds a significant position in StanChart Legacy (7.014% and ex-6.409%) where the proposed change in the LIBOR reference rate has been declined by investors and for which the issuer is "considering any appropriate next steps. This is positive news for the fund as it increases the likelihood of a premium buyout offer. The stock rose by 2% on the announcement.

The fund made arbitrages on US issuers in Discount Bonds, reduced the duration on Fixed-to-Fixed in USD and Prefs in GBP and increased its exposure to stocks with similar catalysts: DB 4.296, XL 5.5, M&G 6.34, while increasing its exposure to Seniors (5% of the portfolio) and AT1s (30% of the portfolio, including Legacy AT1). At the end of December, the average yield on calls was over 9% and the fund remains positioned to continue to benefit from redemption events such as Natwest or Crédit Coopératif, which should make an additional contribution over and above this expected yield during 2023.

PRINCIPAL RISKS

Significant risk(s) for the Fund not taken into account in the SRR1 indicator include the following:

Credit risk: Investors are exposed to the risk of defaults on the bonds included in the portfolio. This risk may affect up to 100% of the portfolio. The materialisation of this risk may lead to a fall in the Fund's net asset value.

Counterparty risk: The Fund may suffer losses as a result of a counterparty failing to meet its contractual obligations.

Liquidity risk: Liquidity risk may materialise where specific and exceptional market conditions make finding market counterparties or reasonable prices difficult.

Use of derivative financial instruments: Equally, the use of derivatives may increase or decrease the volatility of the Fund by increasing or decreasing its exposure, respectively. In the event of adverse market developments, the net asset value may fall.
