Fund manager's report

Source : Groupama AM

April was marked by a strong "risk-on" rally across global equity markets. Investors largely put geopolitical tensions to one side to focus on a surprisingly robust first-quarter earnings season, particularly in the technology sector, buoyed by accelerating investment in AI (S&P 500 +10.5%, Nasdaq +15.3%, Russell 2000 +12.3%, Eurostoxx50 +6.4%, Stoxx600 +5.4%, Nikkei +16.1%, MSCI Asia ex-Japan +16.3%). The 10-year US Treasury yield remained high, ending the month at around 4.4%, while the German Bund stood at 3%, close to multi-year highs. Brent crude remained at high levels and ended the month at $114. Gold remained relatively stable in April at $4,617, while the US dollar depreciated to 1.17 (compared with 1.15 the previous month). The healthcare sector significantly underperformed the broader market (MSCI World Health Care EUR -2.01% compared with MSCI World EUR +7.64%), as investors shifted their focus away from defensive sectors in order to capture the performance of technology stocks amid an AI-driven rally. The fund underperformed, dragged down in particular by UCB (-10.5%), Regeneron (-9.9% in EUR) and Insulet (-19.3% in EUR). Conversely, our investment in Argenx (+7.6%) made a positive contribution, as did our lack of exposure to Abbott (-12.3% in EUR) and Pfizer (-6.4% in EUR). Within the portfolio, we sold our position in SAP in order to reallocate capital to Galderma, Johnson & Johnson and Revolution Medicines (a clinical-stage biotechnology company developing innovative targeted therapies for cancers associated with RAS mutations).

ESG performance indicators definition

Carbon intensity

Carbon intensity corresponds to the weighted average of greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions per million euro of turnover of the issuers invested in.

Scope 1, 2 and 3 upstream emissions are taken into account.

Scope 1 emissions correspond to emissions directly emitted by the company, while scope 2 emissions correspond to indirect emissions linked to its energy consumption. Upstream scope 3 emissions are all other indirect emissions generated upstream of the production activity.
